HIGH SPEEDS and careless driving in any section of Putnam County or Indiana can result in tragedy. During hot summer days, children play outdoors most of the time, lingering until dusk. Motorists can help prevent tragedy by watching for children along the streets and highways.

Indiana time split could cause "economic chaos"

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Affidavits prepared by U.S. Department of Transportation Secretary Alan S. Boyd and others who hope to prevent a mid-summer time change in Indiana were among the documents scheduled to be filed with federal Judge Cale J. Holder.

Holder issued an order July 17 directing Indiana to observe the 1966 Uniform Time Act or show cause why such observation was not possible. The judge allowed 10 days in which the plaintiffs and defendants in a suit brought by a group of television stations were to reply.

The television stations have already filed statements showing their ability to comply and have announced frequently that beginning Sunday at 2 a.m.,

their programs will be on Eastern Daylight time.

The defendants in the case, the U.S. Department of Transportation, prepared affidavits

Hoosier logs rescue

SAIGON (UPI)—Hoosier Joel Talley logged a "combat save" on his first mission in Vietnam, braving enemy fire to help rescue a downed pilot in heavy jungle.

Talley, 20, an airman first class from Farmland, Ind., is a paramedic for the Air Force. His first mission aboard an HH-3 Jolly Green Giant helicopter was to help rescue Lt. Col. Jack Modica, Birmingham, Ala., who was forced down in his F-105 Thunderchief.

Heavy ground fire and darkness thwarted first attempts to reach Modica. Fighter-bomber pilots had to fly 76 sorties to partially clear the area north of the demilitarized zone.

Finally the helicopter was brought in. Talley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Talley, was lowered through the thick foliage of the jungle.

PLEASE BE CAREFUL. The life you save may be a child's. Jay Johnson and his two small daughters, Debbie and Jennifer, send a plea to Putnamville Road motorists: Drive with care and observe the 30 m.p.h. speed limit.

Out-of-control: two tons of cold steel, a dangerous situation

By Penny Blaker of the Banner Staff

Pointing to an automobile, the tall, dark and rather serious man states simply, "Here is a gun, go kill a child."

The statement is meant to shock motorists into driving carefully, especially on the Putnamville Road near Forest Hill Cemetery. The man uttering the powerful words is Jay Johnson. The modest, white, frame home of the Johnson family is located in that neighborhood.

Jay Johnson is a man who is aware of the situations that make the 20th century society complex. He is a correctional officer at the Indiana Youth Center, Plainfield. He possesses an innate understanding of the young. And he is protective of the young.

Therefore, it is a worry to the man to see cars speeding down the Putnamville Road. The traffic problem on the country road, according to Johnson, has long been in existence.

During the snows of last winter, the speed limit signs were inadvertently knocked down. Johnson tried, with the offset of spring, to have new signs erected along the road. The fight for signs raged for about three months. At one point, Johnson says he even offered to place the signs in the ground if the county highway department would deposit them on his front porch.

The signs were erected several weeks ago. But now there is a new problem. The signs do not prevent motorists from speeding. And the residents of the area, reportedly, have experienced difficulty in obtaining law enforcement.

The problem would be critical and is on many other streets and roads throughout the state in any location. But approximately 16 children live and play in the territory, equal to a little less than a city block.

The crisis is magnified by the narrowness of the road and the edges of the road. The road is lined with trees, offering potential death to speeding drivers who lose control of the cars. A car veering out of control could easily crash into the lawns and possibly the homes along the road. Children playing in the yards would be easy targets for injury or death.

Johnson estimates that some autos are traveling on the road at a speed that would mark 60 to 70 miles per hour.

He is quick to point out, however, that the traffic offenders, as a rule, are not teenagers. They are usually men and women in their mid and late twenties and thirties. Often they have children of their own in the cars.

At sometime nearly every parent worries about the dangers created by highways for children. It is almost impossible to be completely assured that a child will not go onto the highway. At the ages of two, three and four a child, left unattended for just a moment, may dart onto the highway. Tots do not realize the hazards of automobiles and trucks. They are too young to realize that danger lurks in each moment of unawareness and carelessness. Children should be instilled with a respect for machinery.

Tuesday and Wednesday, Johnson took the matter into his own hands to a degree. He constructed a sign, using a yard stick, a record album and brown crayon and a blue crayon. The sign reads: "Watch for Children. 30 mile speed limit."

Since he is working nights,

Johnson spent much of the two days sitting near the edge of the road, displaying the sign. He is quick to say that motorists slowed down when they saw the handmade sign. But Wednesday evening, as this reporter sat on the porch of the Johnson home, few cars were observing the 30 m.p.h. speed limit.

The children in the neighborhood range in age from 10 months to 11 years. Some are blond, some have raven locks. They pass the hot July days in the shade, playing ball, running and riding bicycles.

Children at best are unpredictable. Automobiles are often unpredictable. And even adults sometimes make mistakes.

Johnson pleads with motorists to remember that they are handling about "two tons of cold steel" when driving automobiles. Tragedy is the only thing that can result when two tons of cold steel traveling from 50 to 70 miles per hour strikes a four-year-old girl.

It is something to remember when traveling down Putnamville Road or any other street, county road or highway in the county.

Johnson sums it up by saying that careless motorists are "playing with human lives." He's right.

Cleveland streets quiet after racial violence

By JAY GIBIAN

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Ten persons were dead. Blocks of the largely Negro east side lay smoldering. Occasional looters grabbed merchandise from store windows. Spent cartridges lay in the streets and on the floors of darkened apartments where police and snipers had exchanged fire Tuesday night and Wednesday morning.

There were 2,600 National Guardsmen patrolling the streets Wednesday, armed and with orders to shoot to kill snipers. The east side was a battleground. The racial peace that had been Cleveland ended in the report of automatic weapons and the crash of molotov cocktails through ghetto windows. The nation's eighth largest city was on edge.

Then Mayor Carl B. Stokes, a Negro, made his bold gamble. He ordered the National Guardsmen removed from the streets Wednesday night.

His gamble apparently paid off.

Calm Returns
The Cleveland police chief, Michael Blackwell, called it "a brilliant idea." The city was relatively calm Wednesday night and early today.

Stokes ordered all but 100 Negro police out of the city's scarred east side. He replaced the National Guard with 500 black community leaders.

Stokes "challenged" them to keep the peace. They did.

A group of civil rights leaders wearing orange armbands with "mayor's committee" printed on them, moved into the area talking with residents and trying to relieve tensions.

Stokes told an early morning news conference today the situation was "relatively calm" in the seven-square-mile area that had been torn apart Tuesday night and early Wednesday by snipers, fires and looting, leaving the 10 dead, 45 wounded and some 50 arrested. Three of those killed were white police officers and at least three were snipers.

Maj. Gen. Sylvester T. Del Corso, commander of the Ohio National Guard, earlier had expressed dissatisfaction with Stokes' withdrawal of the troops in the area stretching from 55th to 125th Streets. And from Euclid Avenue to the Lake Shore Boulevard.

"I'm a military man," Del Corso said. "I had the area secure and I would have liked to have kept it that way. But I bowed to the mayor's request." Police Chief Blackwell called it a "brilliant idea. It was the most effective move made by Mayor Stokes since the trouble broke out. It paid off as there were no shootings and no assaults."

"There have been sporadic incidents of looting and also 10 fires," Stokes told his 1 a.m. news conference. "Firemen report no problems at all. They are not being hampered or hindered. Generally speaking the community has cooperated well and persons outside the area have not been trying to get inside."

Danville man dies after Sunday accident

Earl O. Stamm, age 65, Danville, died Tuesday from injuries sustained in a one-car accident Sunday afternoon on U.S. highway 36 near Bainbridge.

The death pushed the 1968 traffic toll for Putnam County to 12.

The victim was being moved from the Putnam County Hospital to the Hendricks County Hospital in Danville at the time of death.

According to state police reports, Stamm apparently went to sleep while driving. The car plunged over an embankment. His wife, Mrs. Esther Stamm, a passenger in the car, was treated and released from Putnam County Hospital.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 2 p.m. in the Baker Funeral Home in Danville. Burial will be in the South Cemetery, Danville.

A native of Indianapolis, Stamm retired last month after working 30 years as superintendent of stores and salvage for the Indianapolis Power and Light Company.

He was a member of the Danville Christian Church, the Masonic Lodge and the Order of the Eastern Star.

Surviving, in addition to the wife, are two sons, Earl O. Stamm, Jr., Peoria, Ill., and Dr. James Stamm, Indianapolis; a brother, Alonzo Stamm, Indianapolis; and six grandchildren.

Pleas guilty

Congress grants no new controls for firearms

By ANN WOOD

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite public pressures generated by the assassination of two major public figures this year, it is clear the 90th Congress will put no new controls on firearms beyond prohibiting interstate sale of long guns.

This was established beyond all doubt Wednesday when the House overwhelmingly approved a bill limited to the ban on interstate sales, and the Senate Judiciary Committee agreed on essentially the same legislation.

Though Sen. Joseph Tydings, D-Md., pledged a floor fight to revive the Johnson administration's proposals for federal registration of all firearms and licensing of their owners, his prospects for success appeared almost nonexistent.

Prohibit Shipment

The House bill, passed 304 to 118 after rejection by 2-1 margins of the registration and licensing plans, basically would prohibit interstate shipment of all guns, including rifles and shotguns, except between licensed dealers. It would forbid store sales to persons under 18, felons, drug addicts and mental incompetents.

A companion measure prohibiting the interstate sale of handguns was enacted last month. Public pressure for antgun legislation had built following the murders of Dr.

An aide to Governor Branigin said that since the state was not a party in the legal suit nothing would be done until the federal court matter is clarified.

Residents of Eastern Indiana, where Eastern Standard time is being observed so as to be on the same time as Western Indiana, which observes Central Daylight, were getting a little worried in the meantime.

"I won't know what time to go to work Monday, if something isn't done by Friday," one state employee complained. "Maybe the state isn't a legal party in this case but we sure are going to be affected if there is a change."

Grass fire

The Greencastle Fire Department was called out at 2:15 p.m., Wednesday, to fight a grass fire along the Monon Railroad, near Manhattan Road.

"The jungle underbrush was really thick," the Hoosier said. "It took about 10 minutes to locate the pilot. Once I found him, I asked the chopper to come in a little closer because he was injured. The growth

"After I found the man, I strapped him into the hoist," Talley said. "We started up into the chopper when the enemy opened up with automatic weapons fire."

Negro pupils

will attend

other schools

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Pupils in two predominantly Negro schools in Kokomo were ordered reassigned to other city schools Wednesday by Federal Judge Cale J. Holder.

Holder rejected a Kokomo-Center Twp. Consolidated School Corp. redistricting plan and directed the system to reassign pupils from the Willard and Douglass elementary schools. Holder ruled the schools had "inferior educational resources, facilities and programs."

He said he found no evidence that the school board wilfully tried to segregate Kokomo schools. The two schools were scheduled to be phased out in 1970.

Holder ruled in a suit brought by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People on behalf of seven Kokomo pupils.

Black Panthers

protest to state

NEW YORK (UPI)—The militant Black Panther party said Wednesday if the state of California found its leader, Huey P. Newton, guilty of killing an Oakland policeman and sentenced him to death, the state would have to carry out the sentence "over our dead bodies."

Eldridge Cleaver, spokesman for the Oakland-based Black Panthers, said the Negro organization would not allow "old bald-headed racists who are predetermined to send him to the gas chamber" to find Newton guilty and execute him.

"They will have to kill us first," Cleaver said. His remark drew a cheer from the 15-member central committee of the Panthers and about 25 or 30 black-clad party members who attended a news conference at U.N. Plaza.

In a prepared statement which Cleaver read at the conference, the Panthers also said the party had called upon members of the United Nations to station U.N. observer teams throughout the cities of America "where in black people are crowded up and concentrated in wretched ghettos."

A spokesman for California's Peace and Freedom party also attended the news conference and read a hand-written statement in which he said that the new left party would support "whatever actions are taken in the black community" if Newton were not freed.

hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

DEAR FOLKS:

If you've got mosquitos, bugs and little things that fly around in your house—particularly at night when you have the lights on—get out that bug spray.

Now let me tell you where to put it . . . UNDER your beds and UNDER the sofa and chairs—especially if the ruffle or pleats come down to the floor.

And don't forget to spray UNDER your refrigerator, washer, dryer, stove — anywhere that's dark and cozy like that "hidden sanctuary" beneath your sink where the hot water pipe comes down. Better yet, move all those cans and stuff out of that cabinet, then paint or spray it with your bug killer. Bugs just love those dark, cozy places in the daytime. Why they like to play hide and seek, I'll never know.

I'll guarantee that you won't be bothered with those little pests if you meet them on their own stompin' grounds!

DEAR HELOISE:

I've discovered a sure-fire way to keep my toddler from falling out of the shopping cart in the market when I turn my back to read a label or pick up a can.

After he sits in the basket seat and puts his feet through the openings, I simply tie his shoes to each other by the laces. He can't get them under him to try to stand up and "out."

Capt. Snyder receives Army medal for service

FT. BENNING, GA. — Army Captain Harold E. Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erik R. Snyder, Cloverdale, Route 2, received the Army Commendation Medal, June 28, while serving with the Martin Army Hospital, Ft. Benning, Ga.

Capt. Snyder earned the award for meritorious service as a surgeon at the hospital.

He was graduated in 1951 from Cloverdale High School, in 1955 from Purdue University, Lafayette, with a B.S. degree, and in 1960 from Vandersick Medical School with a M.D. degree.

into the tub and steps on one of the little slivers you didn't see. Well, here's how I solved this problem.

I run enough water in the tub to cover the bottom, then put in some food coloring (a good bit) to make about a medium color, and look closely. You can see each and every little piece shine through that colored water. The glass does not color, looks lighter and can easily be seen and picked out.

Mrs. R. S. Moody

I couldn't believe this when I read it, so we tested it using some blue food coloring. And you know she's right, it works. (The very little food coloring that was on the tub came off easily with a little cleansing powder.)

DEAR HELOISE:

I would like to add my suggestion for filling in the gap between the counter top and stove.

I roll a section of newspaper the thickness of the space, then wrap it in a piece of aluminum foil and push it down in the gap.

It looks nice, can easily be wiped off, and (since it is inexpensive) I can change it as often as I like.

Mrs. L. A. P.

DEAR HELOISE:

I've seen a lot of people hang clothes across from one line to another. I do, too, but I think I have an improved method of doing it.

I fold my sheets lengthwise and hang them by the selvage from one line to the other, zigzagging across about four times (my lines are about two feet apart). This way there are no creases or clothespins marks in the middle of the sheets.

And like everyone else, I hang small articles on each line in between where I have clipped the sheets.

DEAR HELOISE:

To remove tree sap from camping gear, clothes or skin, rub solidified shortening into (or on) it and it will come off easily. Then wash with warm, soapy water.

Needless to say, discretion should be used on fabrics.

Letter to the editor . . .

To the Editor:

I too am concerned about the war in Vietnam, but I am also concerned about deceptions of the American people whether it be by the administration in the form of a credibility gap or by the John Birch Society forming front groups. TRAIN is a front group of the John Birch Society which often employs the technique of front groups like the Communists in the 1940's. ("The Radical Right," Epstein and Forster, 1967, p. 158.) Robert Welch, the founder and ruler of the Birch Society, first proposed the formation of TRAIN (To Restore American Independence Now) in the Society's "Bulletin" of May, 1966. "Study Clubs" are another favorite vehicle, and their formation has been witnessed in this area. Often the "front" will have a high sounding purpose like "Support Your Local Police." Naturally all decent citizens wish to give their police the support and respect which is their due. But the Birch Society is using this seemingly high-minded front group not to gain support for police but rather to gain members for their secret society. Robert Welch wrote in the Society's "Bulletin" of June, 1966, "For probably two-thirds of the people in the United States who are now giving their moral backing to the 'Support Your Local Police' campaigns do not have any idea that this began as, and still is, a John Birch Society project. Which is all right with us."

The Birch Society continually hides behind these front groups. A majority of its members conceal their affiliation. Like the Communist party and the Ku Klux Klan, it functions in the greatest secrecy.

The Birch Society's basic philosophy and at the same time their most vulnerable failing is that they expound the conspiracy theory of history. They believe that a small evil group of Communists plan and control the events of our personal lives and our nation's destiny. William Buckley, true conservatism's most eloquent spokesman, has referred to this conspiracy theory as "paranoid and unpatriotic delirium." The Oct. 1965, issue of Buckley's "National Review" contains numerous articles attacking the Birch Society. Frank Meyer another another conservative writer for this magazine, wrote that the minds of the Birchers had been "warped by adherence to their unrolling psychosis of conspiracy."

I will next turn my attention to the three points of the TRAIN (Birch) program. The first point was to stop all trade with all our communist enemies though it is hard to look in Yugoslavia and some other Eastern European countries as any more hostile to U.S. interests than say the Republic of France. One of the first major questions to arise is who is the major supplier of the enemy. Back in 1964, I.F. Stone proved in his "Weekly" by using U.S. government figures that captured U.S. weapons and supplies stolen through massive corruption in S. Vietnam were then the major source of supply. A cessation of trade with communist countries would not have altered this tragic fact. Today Red China increasingly supplies N. Vietnam and the Viet Cong, but the United States does not trade with her. Russia is also supplying aid, and we do trade with Russia. But we do not give weapons to the Russians to pass on to the war in Asia. Russia was in dire need of food to feed her people internally, and we sold it to her for gold which strengthened our position in the world economic situation. Aid to N. Vietnam from Eastern European countries is minor because they are trying to build up their own economies. It is wise to remember what former Prime Minister McMillan said in his speech here in Greencastle. He predicted that in the end the war would be settled by an agreement between Moscow and Washington rather than on the battlefield. If that is true, it would be absurd to risk the alienation of Russia which could destroy such a hope for agreement.

It seems that TRAIN thinks the only way to confront communism is with bullets and bombs, but we may also confront communism by showing it the weaknesses of its economic system. If we had never traded with the Communist countries of Eastern Europe, Czechoslovakia would now be rebelling nor would have Yugoslavia and Bulgaria adopted our capitalistic methods and enhanced the individual liberties of their people. It is interesting to note that Yugoslavia outlawed wiretapping the same week the U.S. Congress legalized it. The Communist movement today is not monolithic largely because many formerly hardline countries have adopted Western ways, though any sane talk of the Communist monolith should have ended with the Moscow-Peking split.

The other false assumption is that our only enemy in Vietnam is communism. We are unfortunately fighting a highly nationalistic movement whose members for the most part are not the least bit interested in furthering communism or even knowledge about its ideology. For many Vietnamese are only fighting a governmental structure which at best has been distant and unrepresentative and at worst has been unpopular and repressive.

Their second point is to call for military victory. They seem to ignore the best advice of the past military leaders like Ridgeway and Montgomery that it is impossible to win a land war in Asia. It is infinitely harder to win a guerrilla struggle. We have to add several men to offset one additional man of the enemy. Ridgeway said during the Korean War that bombing was highly ineffective and could not stop supplies, and that war even had fixed fronts. As our bombing has increased, so has enemy infiltration and the movement of supplies. Perhaps the best analysis of the cry for victory was given by the late Robert Kennedy before he announced his intention to seek the Presidency. In a speech in early February he said, "We have misconceived the nature of the war... We have sought to resolve by military might a conflict whose issue depends upon the will and conviction of the S. Vietnamese people. It is like sending a lion to halt an epidemic of jungle rot. This misconception rests on a second illusion—the illusion that we can win a war which the S. Vietnamese cannot win for themselves... Government corruption (in Saigon) is the source of the enemy's strength... We have an ally in name only. We support a government without supporters."

The third illusion is that the unswerving pursuit of military victory, whatever it cost, is in the interest of either ourselves or the people of Vietnam... Their tiny land has been devastated by a weight of bombs and shells greater than Nazi Germany knew... More than 2 million S.

Vietnamese are now homeless refugees... Whatever the outcome of these battles, it is the people we seek to defend who are the greatest losers...

The fourth illusion is that the American national interest is

Putnam County farmers eligible for disaster loans

Robert V. Hinshaw, Regional Director of Small Business Administration in Indiana, announces that 76 counties in Indiana including Putnam County, have been declared eligible for Economy Injury Disaster Loans.

The declaration was made because farmers generally have not recovered sufficiently from severe crop losses in 1967 due to various adverse weather conditions. In addition, excessive rainfall during the spring planting season caused substantial damage to this year's crops.

Any small businessman in these counties is eligible for a loan if he can demonstrate he has suffered substantial economic injury because of the disaster.

Loans may be made at a three per cent interest rate and with a maximum maturity of 20 years if needed. Hinshaw said the loan may be used for working capital to stock normal inventories and to pay financial obligations, except bank loans, which the borrower would have been able to meet had he not lost income because of the disaster.

A businessman may apply for an Economic Injury Disaster Loan at the Indianapolis SBA Regional Office, 36 South Pennsylvania Street. He should provide a statement of the extent to which his business has been injured by the disaster. For purposes of comparison, operating and financial statements for the past two years will also be required.

In addition to Putnam County, the other counties declared eligible for emergency loans include:

Adams, Allen, Bartholomew, Benton, Blackford, Boone, Brown, Carroll, Cass, Clay,

Clinton, Daviess, Decatur, DeKalb, Delaware, Dubois, Elkhart, Fayette, Fountain, Fulton, Gibson, Grant, Greene, Hamilton, Hancock, Hendricks, Henry, Howard, Huntington, Jasper, Jay, Jennings, Johnson, Knox, Kosciusko, LaGrange, Lake, LaPorte, Madison, Marion, Marshall, Miami, Monroe, Montgomery, Morgan, Newton, Noble, Owen, Parke, Perry, Pike, Porter, Posey, Pulaski, Randolph, Rush, St. Joseph, Shelby, Spencer, Starke, Steuben, Sullivan, Tippecanoe, Tipton, Union, Vanderburgh, Vermillion, Vigo, Wabash, Warren, Warrick, Wayne, Wells, White, and Whitely.

Fire destroys Wabash trestle

MOUNT VERNON, Ind. (UPI)—Fire destroyed about half of an 800-foot trestle over the Wabash River west of here Tuesday night on the main line between Evansville and St. Louis of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad.

The blaze was believed to have started when driftwood lodged against the pilings of the trestle caught fire and the flames ignited wood soaked in a creosote preservative.

The fire forced the railroad to reroute trains through Mount Carmel, Ill.

The blaze was discovered about 6:30 p.m. on a span on the Illinois side of the stream. Firemen from Carmi and Enfield, Ill., and oilfield workers helped bring the blaze under control about two and one-half hours later, but about half the length of the trestle was destroyed.

The trestle was located in a hard-to-reach spot and firemen had to cross plowed fields to get to the scene.

Police follow cold trail seeking clues to murder

PETOSKEY, Mich. (UPI)—The note tacked to the door of the lavish summer cottage was handwritten. It said Richard C. Robison, his wife and four children would not return until July 7 or 8.

It was put there before the Robisons, on a summerlong vacation, had planned to leave for Kentucky and then Florida. Whether it was put up by a member of the Robison family on June 24—the last day they were seen alive—is what authorities are trying to determine.

For nearly one month, their bullet-torn bodies lay inside the five-room stone and log cottage. No one missed them until the odor of their decomposing bodies drew a complaint from the nearest neighbor, more than one-half mile away.

A summerlong vacation for Robison, a wealthy advertising executive, commercial artist and magazine publisher in the Detroit area, was not unusual. From their summer cottage along an almost deserted stretch of the Lake Michigan shore some 30 miles north of this resort community, the Robisons on June 23 told neighbors they were going to fly to Kentucky on business and then to Florida.

The caretaker who built the cottage 12 years ago investigated Monday, found several bullet holes in windows, saw a body lying on the living room floor and called police.

The bodies of Robison, 42; his wife Shirley, 40; their sons, Richard, 19; Gary, 17; and Randy, 12; and their daughter, Susan, 8, were found sprawled in different rooms of the cottage. Police said they had been shot in the living room and then dragged to other rooms.

Emmet County Prosecutor W. Richard Smith said the deaths were "an act of premeditated murder by a person or persons unknown caused by gunshot wounds."

There was no sign of forced entry into the cottage, according to Clifford Fosmore, undersheriff of Emmet County. The bodies were fully clothed and several hundred dollars worth of cameras packed for the upcoming trip were in plain view.

But there was no money in Robison's wallet, found in his pants pocket. And officials said no motive had been determined.

State and local police combed the secluded area Tuesday, looking for clues in what one officer termed a "cold trail."

Oil leak believed cause of power failure

WASHINGTON, Ind. (UPI)—The municipal power plant in this city of 12,000 population broke down Tuesday evening, blacking out the entire community throughout the night and well into today.

A transformer which operated motors on pumps and boilers in the plant blew out at 5:40 p.m. EST, presumably because of an oil leak. Electrical service was disrupted throughout the city except for a few places which had their own generators.

Airconditioners went off in hot summer weather with temperatures near 90.

Temporary repairs were made to one of two boilers but power was restored this morning to only one small section of the city. Crews were working on the other boiler and hoped to get power flowing again by noon.

Gas stations were unable to pump fuel into cars, except for one enterprising station manager who called for a tank truck and served customers direct from the truck. Other motorists drove to Plainville, Montgomery and Petersburg, and other nearby communities to fill up their tanks.

Supermarkets hauled meats and other perishables to the Armour & Co. poultry processing plant where refrigeration service was available because the factory is supplied with power by Public Service Indiana.

Housewives with electric stoves prepared their meals on camp stoves and charcoal grills.

The city's water supply was not affected. The water plant has its own diesel power system.

Daviess County Hospital also was unaffected. It shifted to an auxiliary power unit when the city supply went off.

Indiana Bell also kept telephone service going with an auxiliary unit.

Andy fires his parting shot at Auto Club

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Andy Granatelli charged Wednesday that new limitations placed on turbine racing engines was a "sorry maneuver...banning successful innovators in USAC racing."

Granatelli fired a parting shot at rules makers of the United States Auto Club less than 24 hours after USAC's board of directors voted to reduce the turbine formula for the second straight year. The board, acting on recommendations of a special subcommittee which studied equivalency formulas for cars on the championship circuit, also made small reductions in displacement formulas for turbocharged Offenhauser and Ford engines.

However, Granatelli charged that those reductions were insignificant while that pertaining to turbine engines was 25 per cent.

"Meaningless Gesture" "This whole USAC proposal, which pretends to penalize turbocharged Offenhauser engines by reducing them a trifling 4 per cent from their actual running size and the meaningless gesture of increasing the size of stock block engines is pure sham," Granatelli said, "calculated to cover the killing of turbine engine power."

Granatelli, who charged the action constituted an "absolute ban" on turbines, said that "this whole sorry maneuver by USAC...enunciates a policy of banning successful innovators in USAC racing."

"These capricious and arbitrary rule changes...are having an obvious effect on the kind and quality of cars now appearing on the USAC championship trail," Granatelli said. He said only at Milwaukee recently was there a full quota of cars from which to pick a competing field.

we might bring to Indianapolis to race in 1969 with this kind of policy in force."

Earlier this summer USAC's board of directors banned cars equipped with four-wheel drive and turbine engines of all types beginning in 1970 unless they are of the "automotive type." Such engines do not now exist, Granatelli said, except in experimental laboratories.

Granatelli attributed much of the success of his turbocars at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway to the fact they were equipped with four-wheel drive.

Pennant hopes bolstered by Frisella

By United Press International The Jacksonville Mets' International League pennant hopes have been bolstered by the addition of pitcher Danny Frisella from the parent New York Mets.

Frisella, a disappointment with the National League Mets as a relief pitcher, made his first appearance for their farm club Wednesday night and pitched a four-hitter for an 8-1 triumph over the Richmond Braves. Frisella had only a 2-2 record and a 3.88 earned run average for the NL Mets.

The victory, the Mets' fifth in six games, enabled them to remain in second place four games behind the Toledo Mud Hens, who downed the Buffalo Bisons 7-3 behind the 10-hit pitching of Mike Marshall.

The Rochester Red Wings defeated the Syracuse Chiefs 6-1 and the Columbus Jets downed the Louisville Colonels 8-2 in other games.

Cleveland Indians caught red-faced

By JOE GERGEN UPI Sports Writer Jose Cardenal's attempted theft made it a steal for the Baltimore Orioles.

Cardenal, the most accomplished of the Cleveland Indians' swiftness with 22 stolen bases to his credit, made a daring bid for No. 23 Wednesday night only to be caught red-handed and red-faced by the Orioles, who walked off the field with a 1-0 victory and undisputed possession of second place in the American League.

Dave McNally was breezing to a five-hit shutout with two out in the ninth when Cardenal doubled. The next batter, Chico Salmon, then lashed a liner which curved foul by inches. With McNally still shaking from the near-miss, Cardenal, representing the tying run, took off for third.

If his goal was surprise, he achieved it.

"I couldn't believe it when I looked up and saw him running," said Baltimore catcher Larry Haney, who pinched himself in time to nail the Indian speedster for the final out of the game.

License to Steal

"Cardenal is on his own to run anytime he thinks he has a jump," said Cleveland manager Alvin Dark, who has encouraged the Indians to run all season. "And that includes stealing home."

The victory moved the Orioles to within five games of first place when the Washington Senators defeated the league-leading Detroit Tigers 6-3. In other games, the Minnesota Twins mauled the California Angels 12-1 and the Oakland Athletics swept a doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox 1-0 and 2-1. The game between the Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees was postponed by rain.

St. Louis beat Philadelphia 3-1, Atlanta edged New York 3-2 in 10 innings, Houston blanked Los Angeles 1-0 and Chicago overcame San Francisco 2-0 in National League contests. The Pittsburgh-Cincinnati game was rained out.

Boog Powell doubled home Don Buford, who had tripled, in the first inning for his 60th RBI of the season and McNally made it stand up for his fourth straight victory and 12th of the season.

McMullen Homers

Ken McMullen drove in the first four runs with a first-inning single and a three-run homer in the third and Hank Allen collected four singles in many appearances as the Senators caged the Tigers'. Jim Hannan was credited with his fourth win although he needed relief help in the ninth when the Tigers scored one run on Gates Brown's second pinch single in as many games.

Ted Uhlaender, who had a three-run double in the first inning, John Roseboro and Rod Carew stroked three hits apiece to pace a 20-hit Minnesota attack of five California pitchers. Even pitcher Dean Chance, a notoriously bad hitter, joined in the fun with a run-producing single, his first RBI in two years with the Twins. Tony Oliva, the Twins' top hitter, pulled a hamstring muscle running out a single and is expected to be sidelined for a week.

Jim Nash's four-hit pitching and Rick Monday's RBI single in the fifth inning paced the A's opening game triumph. Floyd Robinson's pinch single with one out in the ninth scored Reggie Jackson with the winning run in the nightcap as John "Blue Moon" Odom went the route for Oakland to gain his ninth triumph.

Hoyt Wilhelm, the White Sox' 44-year-old reliever, pitched in both games for a career total of 908 appearances, surpassing the 57-year-old record of 906 set by Denton "Cy" Young. Alas, Wilhelm lasted only one-third of an inning in the second game and was charged with the defeat.

Fishing report

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Northern pike fishing in the north and bluegill fishing in most of the rest of the state is "quite good," the Indiana Department of Natural Resources said in the weekly fishing report.

In Noble Lake, Engle, High, Steinberger and Sylvan Lakes, bluegills taken from deep water.

West Central — Persistent fishermen continue to take limits of nice bass from Monroe Reservoir. These are nice eating-size and good scrappers. There have been a few up to 4 pounds. Almost all taken on deep-running lures. Monroe also yielding lots of nice bluegills in deep water on crickets and redworms, and bluegill fishermen taking a few nice channel catfish. Cataract Lake producing good largemouth bass, a few over 6 pounds by hardworking fishermen taking a few nice channel catfish. Bluegills hitting bee-moths, a few crappies on minnows, and channel catfish on chicken blood bait and cheese.

Tribe 5-hitter blasted by

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Rich Robertson, the Pacific Coast League's winningest pitcher, threw a five-hitter at Indianapolis Wednesday night as Phoenix scored a 3-1 victory.

Robertson, in chalking up his 15th triumph of the campaign, struck out seven and walked four.

The Giants hit Tribe starter Jose Pena for two runs in the opening inning. Three consecutive singles loaded the bases and the first run scored when Pena batted. Cesar Gutierrez' infield hit scored the second Giant tally.

The Indians got their lone run in the second on Jim Schaffer's single, scoring Cal Emery from second base. Emery had walked and reached second on a wild pitch.

It was the seventh straight loss for the Tribe.

American battle deaths hit low; forces destroy Cong hideouts

By JACK WALSH
SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. B52 Stratofortresses slammed hundreds of high-explosive bombs into Communist hideouts on a favorite Viet Cong infiltration route from Cambodia toward Saigon today. Headquarters said American battle deaths hit a 10-month low last week.

The high-flying B52s hit an area four miles from the Cambodian border on the heels of a battle near Loc Ninh that cost the Communists 21 killed Wednesday, spokesmen said.

Casualty reports showed 157 American servicemen killed last week—the lowest since 102 died during the week ending last Oct. 7. Another 2,104 were wounded, highest since the week beginning June 15, the announcement said.

The figures reflected the recent fall-off in the intensity of fighting but did not include losses suffered this week in a series of Communist shellings and attacks on the northern coast.

Communist Toll
The Communist death toll was put at 1,248 for the week, second lowest of the year, while government casualties were 156 soldiers slain, a low for 1968.

U.S. mission spokesmen said civilian casualties from Viet Cong terrorism in the first five months of the year had surpassed those of any previous six-month period in the Vietnam war.

"Striking in almost every district of South Vietnam's 44 provinces, VC (Viet Cong) terrorists murdered an estimated 2,472 South Vietnamese government officials, employees and civilians, wounded 5,020 and abducted 4,321 during five of the six months since Jan. 1," the announcement said.

The month not included was February, when 7,424 civilians were killed and 15,434 wounded during the Communists' Tet offensive, spokesmen said.

Hit Two Villages
Viet Cong Terrorists attacked two villages along South Vietnam's northern coast Wednesday and killed 20 persons, wounded 41 others and kidnapped 20, military spokesmen said.

At Phu Dau, 35 miles southwest of Da Nang, guerrillas set fire to the village when the villagers refused to grow rice for them, killing two and wounding three. The Red then retreated to nearby foothills with 20 hostages.

Eighteen civilians were killed and 39 were wounded in a simultaneous mortar barrage on a refugee camp at Tanh Tay, 15 miles north of Phu Dau.

In the battle near Loc Ninh government soldiers suffered "very light" casualties while one of their American Special Forces advisers was killed and one was wounded, the war communique said.

States position

By DE VAN L. SUMWAY
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI)—If fate, the Republican National Convention and the nation's voters make Gov. Ronald Reagan president, it's a task he is prepared to assume, a mantle he's ready to wear.

"It's something that's almost impossible to imagine in your own mind," the California Republican said in an interview aboard a jet on a flight from Sacramento to Los Angeles.

"I think any man—unless he has made a career of politics, unless he has been aiming for years for a spot—any man difficultly thinking of himself in that spot," Reagan said.

But he pondered as the plane flew over the world's richest agricultural valley about the presidential drive he at first apparently resisted, then allowed to run free.

Groups Formed
At last count, about 25 states had active Reagan for President groups to form the core of any serious presidential campaign—if it develops.

The interview marked the first time Reagan has discussed publicly his view of the presidency as a possible candidate.

"Service as governor has made me realize the strength is not in one man, it's in the nation," he said. "I think sometimes we have a tendency when we think about that office to think of one man running everything, taking the whole show."

"We forget this country has gone through the tragedy of assassination, changes of leadership, and even the ill health of a president when he was virtually helpless, and not on duty."

"We saw the great strength of this nation, that things went right on and grass didn't start growing in the street."

Selection Close
Reagan reiterated his position on the nomination only two weeks before the Republican National Convention convenes at Miami Beach to pick the party standard-bearer.

He was asked if it was correct to say he would accept but not actively seek the nomination. "I've always said that," he replied.

"Are you absolutely 100 per cent serious when you say you don't want to be anybody's vice president?" he was asked.

"Absolutely, 100 per cent serious," he replied.

Reporter in Cleveland tells of night of horror

EDITORS NOTE: For two hours UPI newsman Davis Spurr was trapped in a house on Cleveland's east side while police fought snipers outside in a blazing gun battle. Here is his report.

By DAVID SPURR
CLEVELAND (UPI)—I rode into the area while huddled on the floor of a car operated by a Negro who at first tried to convince me to leave. There was a crowd of about 250 Negroes on the corner when I got there. I got into a police car for protection. There was a small store on fire nearby.

While I was sitting in the police car members of the crowd began stoning the car. Bricks and rocks ricocheted off the top of the car.

Down the street a crowd of about 10 young men threw gasoline across the street and lit it. The street erupted in billowing flame and smoke.

Three cars with white occupants were stopped by the crowd. Police waded in and rescued two of the drivers. The third was a young boy about 20 years old.

A group of Negroes stopped the car, opened the door, dragged him out and began to beat him.

At this point about 15 policemen drew their pistols and ran to the scene. The boy's head was bleeding profusely. He was led up the street surrounded by policemen.

identical with or should be subordinated to the selfish interest of an incompetent military regime.

The fifth illusion is that this war can be settled in our own way and in our own terms. Such a settlement is a privilege of the triumphant. We can no longer harden our terms every time Hanoi indicates it may be prepared to negotiate; and we must be willing to forese a settlement which will give the Viet Cong a chance to participate in the political life of the country. (Reported in "Newsweek", Feb. 19, 1968) than bombing villages or dropping napalm. The cry for military victory is really an unrealistic cry that will result only in more dead on both sides and will offer no hope of a peaceful solution.

The third TRAIN objective is to form study clubs and spread information. This kind of propaganda effort is always a Bircher goal. There is nothing wrong with becoming informed about the war. That is every citizen's duty, and he should take care that his information is objective. But when an organization will not even openly step forth from behind a front group, it becomes questionable whether their "information" or propaganda, as it may be, can be accepted with safety. I have written this because I thought people should know that TRAIN is merely a Birch "front group" and to add some analysis to its objectives. Today, more than ever, the American people need the truth—undiluted. During times of crisis there are always those who seek to avoid reality by offering "a slogan and a scapegoat." As President Kennedy would have said in Dallas had he not been killed, "we cannot expect that everyone will 'talk sense to the American people.' But we can hope that fewer people will listen to non-sense."
